

Code Night with Co-coders

Networking-nights for IT-interested.

Share your projects, challenges and/or your curiosity with others.

Once a month forty to fifty developers meet up at a company somewhere in Aarhus. In the busiest of nights, we have held code nights for 130 participants.

Our concept is all about network, about getting wiser and to create a community across IT-companies in Aarhus. That is why newcomers, self-employed, UX's, front-enders, back-enders, and students meet for these evenings.

We have previously visited Uber, Enversion, Novicell, Trifork, etc.

Frequency

Code Nights will take place approximately once a month.

Program

17:30 - Arrival and networking; often includes an introduce yourself-game.

18:00 - Dinner

18:30 - Presentation at the company

19:00 - Everyone works on their own projects, joint projects and/or networking together.

21:00 - Farewell

Location

Every month at a new, relevant and interesting IT-Company

Dinner

The evenings company is responsible for dinner and catering for the participants, including drinks and snacks.

Presentation

Any of the company's employees are more than welcome to contribute with presentations in order to introduce their way of working, new tools, or introductions to new or existing technologies for all or parts of the participants of the night.

PR & Recruitment Value

Co-coders have helped several participants into jobs and internships in connection to Code Nights. Therefore, these evenings have plenty of recruitment value for IT-companies in and around Aarhus. Because of the popularity of these events they also have a great branding value for the companies.

Practical Information

It's a great idea for the company to ensure, that there will be electricity available.

Half an hour before the event we as organizers usually checks in, so we can coordinate the last things of the day.
